JOAQUIN RODRIGUEZ

FullStack Developer

Currently I am a student at Quilmes National University in computer science and technology program. I describe myself as a hardworking, energetic, ambitious, deadline and goal driven. I have developed a responsible approach to any task or situation I am presented with using available tools and resources. When presented with work challenges or situations, I put dedication and learned methods to complete tasks given to me. I have found through my education how valuable teamwork and diversity contributes to complex projects. Currently, I am looking to enhance my professional and personal development, tackle challenges, and learn new skills in the IT world that I am passionate about.
